

Another award: Chambers Global ranks Tax Partner 2026 among Switzerland's leading tax law firms

In its 2026 edition, the renowned international legal directory Chambers Global once again ranks Tax Partner among Switzerland's leading tax law firms.

'Tax Partner combines deep technical expertise with pragmatic, commercially viable advice. The lawyers are highly responsive, forward-thinking and reliable, especially on cross-border matters' is what it says about the firm's tax experts.

Prof. Dr. René Matteotti is again named among the 'notable practitioners' this year. Stephanie Eichenberger has been recognised for the second time. Laurent Lattmann is newly recognised as a 'notable practitioner' in the area of Indirect Tax Spotlight.

'Matteotti is a highly skilled tax professional with a very strong academic background. He shows great willingness to understand our complex business and analyse our tax situation with academic rigour.'

'Stephanie Eichenberger is a strong tax adviser due to her exceptional industry expertise, client service, responsiveness and understanding of complex matters."

'Laurent Lattmann combines technical depth with commercial understanding, making him a trusted partner for global VAT-related questions.'
